Price List

Quilting as a hobby has been a part of our lives for several years. After being overwhelmed with quilt tops, fabric collections, and shrinking space we took a class in longarm quilting, hoping to speed up the finishing process. While this helped the final assembly steps considerably, it seems to have led to more “fabric research” trips, a greater collection of quilt fabrics, patterns and ideas and forays into the realm of quilt design. The whole process began to snowball and we became even more behind in assembling all the quilts that seem to appear on their own.

So – we purchased our own longarm machine. What better way to share time with persons of like minds than to set up a quilting studio where we can invite others to finish their quilts and share their addiction to fabric, threads, and furred and feathered friends.

We invite you to come learn to use the longarm to finish your own quilts. And if you’d rather concentrate on piecing quilt tops, allow us to finish them for you.
